

Do you want to tell someone that geography really matters?

Here's an activity to get started.

- These postcards have an illustration and the other side the space for a message. There are two per page and two designs to choose from.
- Ask your pupils why they think it's important to study geography.
- Then ask them to complete the sentence 'Geography really matters to me because...' and send their postcards to their headteacher, school governors, local MP, local education decision-makers, etc.

These are the links to the two postcards:

https://www.geography.org.uk/write/MediaUploads/Get%20involved/Postcard\_template\_3.pdf

https://www.geography.org.uk/write/MediaUploads/Get%20involved/Postcard\_template\_5.pdf

Why not download the posters and put them up where everyone can see them? These are the links to the full-sized posters:

https://www.geography.org.uk/write/MediaUploads/Journals/GA\_A3\_poster\_pullout\_Primary-2.pdf

https://www.geography.org.uk/write/MediaUploads/Journals/GA\_A3\_poster\_pullout\_Secondary-2.pdf

