Lesson four: The 1976 drought – was it all good?

The About Drought research team have asked you to publish a report entitled 'The 1976 Droughts – was it all good?'

Your report should look to include the following information:

- Statistical data from the choropleth map about the extent of the precipitation during 1976.
- A discussion about the people that were affected by the drought and whether it caused benefit or loss to their lives.
- A clear conclusion which answers the question.
