

Think about your research title:

- What makes it a strong title?
- What new ideas will it allow you to explore?
- How is it interesting?
- How is it linked to the specification?
- How is it linked to geographical theory and/or models?
- How does it allow you to access a full range of marks?

You are going head-to-head with your peers in a balloon debate. Be prepared to defend your choice of title and explain to others why it is the best title for your independent research. You should aim to have at least six clear arguments in favour of your title. You can prepare some notes below.

Argument 1: .....

.....

.....

Argument 2: .....

.....

.....

Argument 3: .....

.....

.....

Argument 4: .....

.....

.....

Argument 5: .....

.....

.....

Argument 6: .....

.....

.....